Junior Honor Students

Honor students of the junior class are: Jean Atkinson, Megan Helffrich, Patricia Jaynes, Anita Klein, Elizabeth Lyle, Priscilla Miller, Eleanor Spano, and Margaret St. John.

The sophomore members are: Margaret Jackson, Elizabeth McCann, Fay Callas Petro, Audrey Rogers, Mary Jane Slade, and Miriam Stybel.

Three freshmen and one special student are also included. They are: Suzi Ketz, Janet Murray, Bolyn Ramos, freshmen, and Alberta Gladeck, special student.

Notables To Speak At Bulletin Forum On Current Events

"The Philadelphia Bulletin" Forum, a combination conference and social event at which leading political figures and speakers from the United States and foreign countries will discuss current events, will be held Monday evening, March 3, and Tuesday afternoon and evening, March 4. Tickets necessary for admission will be available to students interested in attending the forum.

Included among the speakers are: John M. Allison, assistant secretary of state for foreign labor affairs; Harry P. Cain, senator from Washington; Morley Cassidy, foreign correspondent for the "Philadelphia Bulletin"; Joseph E. Clark, mayor of Philadelphia. Also speaking will be James H. Duff, senator from Pennsylvania; Estes Kefauver, senator from Tennessee; Myrna Loy, chairman of the Hollywood Film Council for UNESCO; Walter Reuther, president of United Automobile Workers of America; and Charles E. Wilson, director of defense mobilization.

Marine Lt. Pratt To Be Here March 3

Second Lieutenant Jane Pratt of the United States Marine Corps will be on the Beaver campus on Monday, March 3, after chapel to give information concerning opportunities for college women in the Marine Corps.

The Women Officers Training Class of the Marine Corps, of which Lieutenant Pratt is a representative, is an officer candidate program open to college students over 18 years of age. This class is the primary source for recruiting women for the Regular Marine Corps and the Marine Corps Reserve.

Two training courses during the summer months of six weeks each and graduation from an accredited college make a girl eligible for a commission as a Second Lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve. Girls having completed two years of college are also eligible.

Summer training at Quantico, Virginia, will begin in mid-June for the junior course and in late July for the senior course. The junior course provides basic military instruction and the latter prepares members for appointment to a commissioned rank.

Botany Mills Has Fashion Show Here; Students Model

The Botany Mills, Inc. will present a fashion show on Wednesday, March 5, at 7 p.m. in Taylor Chapel. The admission price will be 25 cents and a door prize will be given. The Home Economics Club is sponsoring the fashion show.

Miss Margaret L. Riordan, a representative of Botany Mills, Inc., will direct the fashion show. There will be 22 Beaver models.

Movie To Be Shown

A short movie will be shown before the fashion show, describing the process of wool making. There will be a talk to go along with the showing of the fashions.

All of the latest styles will be shown, including suits, coats, dresses, and sweaters. Over 60 garments will be modeled and everything will be made from Botany wool.

The following girls will be among those who will be models: Barbara Brooks '55, Carolyn Danenberger '52, Anne Ditzel '54, Suzi Ketz '55, Elizabeth Larsen '53, Esther Mannherz '54, Janet Morris '52, Marilyn Neuburger '53, Nancy Norman '53, Lucy Rach '54, Dorothy Reigen '52, Carolyn Schuman '53, Phyllis Shoobridge '54, Eleanor Spano '53, Ruth Winterling '53, Joan Zandonella '53.

Cast Gives Reading Of "Dr. Faustus" At Art Alliance

The Beaver College Theatre Playshop gave a reading of "Dr. Faustus Lights the Lights," by Gertrude Stein at the Philadelphia Art Alliance last Monday evening, February 25.

The Drama Committee of the Art Alliance invited the cast of the Stein play on the strength of the publicity it received and the interest it brought about.

Miss Elder Gives Talk

Miss Judith Elder, assistant professor of speech and director of the play, gave a brief talk before the reading.

The cast were dressed in their costumes designed by Mrs. Elsie McGarvey, instructor in art. They were made up moderately and the reading was given from a small platform. The very wonderful ballet of lights was also used.

After the reading the cast were entertained at a party by Miss Elder.

Societies To Hold Assembly Mar. 11

The departmental honor societies at Beaver will be featured at Honors Assembly on Tuesday, March 11, in Taylor Chapel, where the presidents of the societies will speak about the organizations. The purpose of the assembly is to acquaint the students with the qualifications for membership, to encourage them to meet the requirements, and to recognize the members and candidates for membership in the societies.

The presidents representing the organizations are: Carol Irwin '52, Kappa Delta Pi, national honor society in education; Mary McConnell '53, Alpha Psi Omega, national honorary dramatic fraternity; Marcia Rodman '52, Alpha Kappa Alpha, honor fraternity in philosophy; Constance Shaffer '53, Pi Delta Epsilon, honor fraternity in journalism; and Jean Starr '52, Psi Chi, national honor society in psychology.

Choir To Sing At Ardmore Church Friday, March 7

The Beaver College Choir will travel to the Ardmore Presbyterian Church to present a program of music on Friday, March 7, at 8 p.m. The choir is under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Haupt, instructor in music.

The program will include the choir selections: "The Lord's Prayer," by Carl Deis; "In Heavenly Love Abiding," by Mendelssohn; "Rejoice," by Robert W. Wilkes; "I Wonder As I Wander," adapted and arranged by John Jacob Niles and Lewis Henry Horton; "The Lord Bless You and Keep You," by Peter Christian Lutkin; "The Lord of Our Life," by James M. Howard; and "The Hundredth Psalm," by Carl F. Mueller.

Princeton Glee Club To Sing With Beaver Club March 1

Princeton Glee Club under direction of Elliot Forbes.

All music-lovers attending "Beaver Night" will be fully entertained by the combined musical talents of the glee clubs of Beaver College and Princeton University. The program, which will be held in Murphy Chapel, will begin at 8:15 p.m. on Saturday, March 1.

"Beaver Night" will mark the first time the two glee clubs have united since 1942. In other years at this time, Beaver has sung with Harvard, Lafayette, Franklin and Marshall, Haverford, and has also given three concerts at the Town Hall in Philadelphia.

Combined Singing

One of the highlights of the evening will be the particularly moving work "A Free Song" with words and music by Walt Whitman and William Schuman, respectively. This secular cantata, sung by both clubs, will climax the evening's program. The other selection which the clubs have chosen to do together is Jacob Handl's "O Admirabile commercium."

Beaver Selections

The Beaver Glee Club, composed of 86 girls, will be under the direction of Dr. W. Lawrence Curry, chairman of the music department. The girls will sing three numbers from "A Ceremony of Carols" by Benjamin Britten; "Music, When Soft Voices Die" by Nicholas Dauty; "Lullaby of the Duchess" by Irving Gifford Fine (taken from Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland"); "Second Dance Song" by Theophil Wendt; "Pueri Hebraeorum" by Randall Thompson; and two folk tunes from Peru, "Spring Carol" and "Baile," arranged by Dr. Curry.

Featured as soloists for the evening are Louise Prowell '52, Barbara Schmidt '53, and Mary Jane Slade '54. An incidental solo will be given by Mary Elizabeth Herold '55. Instrumental solos will be given by Doris Dodd '53 who will play the "Finale" from Vierne's First Symphony on the organ, and Janet Murray '55 who will play Chopin's "Fantasie Impromptu" on the piano. Laura Hocheimer '55 and Adelia Mease '52 will play a duo violin obligato.

Beaver Accompanists

Accompanists will be Barbara Hansel '53, Janet Murray, and Virginia Siegfried '55. Student conductors are Barbara Schmidt and Mary Jane Slade '54.

The Princeton Glee Club, composed of 65 men, will be under the direction of Mr. Elliot Forbes, director of the Glee Club. Selections chosen include "The Boyar's Song" by Nikolai Tcherpnine; "Serenade" by Alexander Borodin; "Hail, O Virgin" by Alexander Gretchaninoff; "Cantata" by Franz Schubert; "Set Down, Servant" and "Rockin' Jerusalem" both works being traditional spirituals; and "You May Bury Me in the East" and "There's a Meetin' Here Tonight" by Robert W. Work.

Solos to be Given

Solos will be given by Bruce K. MacLaury, M. Wells Huff, Robert E. Field, John R. Helm, and George C. Newlin. Accompanists will be Robert A. Chalmers and Robert Miller.

Following the concert will be an informal dance sponsored by the alumnae.

Buzby & Coleman To Speak In Chapel

Dr. Dallas E. Buzby, professor of psychology at Beaver College and a member of the Episcopal clergy, will be the guest speaker at the chapel service on Monday evening, March 3.

On Monday evening, March 10, Mr. Ralph Pallen Coleman will show colored slides of his own paintings, on the life of Christ.

Alpha Kappa Alpha To Meet On Mar. 3

Existentialism will be the subject for a debate on Monday, March 3, at the Alpha Kappa Alpha meeting. The meeting will be held in the day students' room at 7:30 p.m.

The girls in the society have been reading about this subject, and a general discussion will take place before the debate. Marcia Rodman '52, president of Alpha Kappa Alpha, will preside.

The constitution, dues, future programs, and other items of business will be discussed during the regular business meeting which will precede the debate.

Dr. Dugan Serves On 2 Committees

Dr. John E. Dugan, professor of education, will serve as a member of an evaluation committee for Abington Township junior high schools on Monday, March 3, Tuesday, March 4, Wednesday, March 5, and Thursday, March 6. The evaluation committee consists of college professors, high school teachers, and high school administrators from Pennsylvania and a representative of the United States Office of Education.

On Tuesday, March 11, Wednesday, March 12, and Thursday, March 13, Dr. Dugan will serve as chairman of a committee which will evaluate the high school in Laurel, Maryland. The committee will consist of 15 college professors and high school teachers and administrators from Maryland, Delaware, and Pennsylvania.

Kistler Speaks In Local Communities

Dr. Raymon Kistler, president of Beaver College, will be preaching at churches and speaking at club meetings in nearby communities during the next two weeks.

Dr. Kistler is speaking at noon today in the Arch Street Methodist Church. On Sunday, March 2, he will preach in the Prospect Street Presbyterian Church in Trenton, New Jersey.

At noon Thursday, March 6, Dr. Kistler will speak at the union lentin service in Wilmington, Delaware. That night he will address the Rotary Club members of Ardmore, Pennsylvania, at their annual dinner.

Candidates For Offices Given; Vote Wisely For Your Choice

Next Tuesday is election day here at Beaver. We will be voting for many candidates who are running for numerous offices. Many of the girls have been nominated for more than one office, all being of equal importance. Perhaps the most talked of candidates are those running for president of Student Government Association. However, we of the "Beaver News" feel that although this is true, other student positions are important and must be considered carefully.

In the article following this introduction, the names of all the students and the office for which they have been nominated are given. Although the candidates for president of S.G.A. have each written an article for the "News" (see page 3) we feel that the office carries enough weight to warrant further mention of the candidates' qualifications.

The students running for president of the Student Government Association are Claire Everding, Beverly Gifford, Barbara Langdon, Patricia Martin, Dianne Thompson, and Hannah Weiner. Claire is president of the junior class, and last year was sophomore representative on Student Council. She is also junior representative on the A. A.

Beverly Gifford is secretary of S.G.A. She was co-chairman of her Junior Prom, and is also captain of the rifle team this year. Barbara Langdon was president of her class in her sophomore year, and is junior representative on Student Council. She is also a member of Pentathlon.

Patricia Martin is junior representative on Nominating Council, and last year represented her class on Honor Council.

This year Dianne Thompson is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, and received honorary mention academically at Honors Day. She is also a member of the Y.W.C.A.

Hannah Weiner was a member of Nominating Council last year, and at present is a member of the A.A. Managerial Board.

Those girls running for the office of vice-president of S.G.A. are juniors Claire Everding, Beverly Gifford, Emilie Grootendorst, Mindelle Hersberg, Mary Hill, Patricia Jaynes, Mary McConnell, Elise Melnick, Margaret St. John, Jacqueline Strohauser, Marilyn Samuel, Dianne Thompson, Sarah Virkler, Hannah Weiner, and Joan Zandonella.

Candidates for the office of secretary of S.G.A. are Paula Berrino '54, Dorothy Cella '53, Norma Golder '54, Emilie Grootendorst, Suzanne Gorlin '54, Betty Lyle '53, Patricia Martin, Carolyn Miller '53, Eleanor Murphy '54, Jean Partridge '53, Betsy Schneider '53, Mary Jane Slade '54, and Hannah Weiner.

Nominated for treasurer of S.G.A. are Cynthia Baketel '54, Joan Christopher '55, Jean Gernert '55, Suzanne Gorlin, Emilie Grootendorst, Mary Herold '55, Mindelle Hersberg, Ruth Koenig '53, Joan Kovacs '55, Marcelline Krafchick '54, Barbara Langdon, Patricia Martin, Priscilla Miller '53, Eleanor Murphy, Janet Murray '55, Bolyn Ramos '55, Anita Ruff '54, Marilyn Samuel, Betsy Schneider, Eleanor Spano '53, Margaret St. John, and Hannah Weiner.

Nominees for the office of president of Honor Council include Marion Boise '53, Janice Cooper '53, Claire Everding, Patricia Jaynes, Barbara Langdon, Betty Lyle, Patricia Martin, Bernadine Muller '53, Mindelle Hersberg, Priscilla Miller, Marilyn Samuel, Eleanor Spano, Jacqueline Strohauser, Dianne Thompson, Sarah Virkler, Hannah Weiner, and Barbara Wheeler '53.

Those girls running for secretary of Nominating Council are Dorothy Cella, Joan Christopher, Isabel Comstock '53, Mindelle Hersberg, Elizabeth McCann, Carolyn Miller, Anita Ruff, Barbara Schmidt '53, Margaret St. John, and Jacqueline Strohauser.

Candidates for the office of president of A.A. are Mary Hill, Eleanor Irwin '53, Mary Kern '53, Betty King '53, Mary Louise Ogden '53, and Margaret St. John.

Those running for secretary of A.A. include Joanne Casselberry '54, Claire Everding, Norma Golder, Suzanne Gorlin, Mary Hill, Margaret Johnson '54, Marlene Lochner '55, Mary Kern, Grace McGee '54, Janet Murray, and Peggy Sue '54.

Treasurer of A.A. candidates include Joanne Casselberry, Norma Golder, Eleanor Irwin, Margaret Johnson, Mary Kern, Marlene Lochner, Grace McGee, Barbara Sniffen '54, Margaret St. John, Peggy Sue, and Hannah Weiner.

Candidates for president of Forum are Claire Everding, Mindelle Hersberg, Betty Lyle, Mary McConnell, Elise Melnick, Nancy Norman '53, Marilyn Samuel, Barbara Smith '53, Dianne Thompson, Hannah Weiner, and Joan Zandonella.

Nominated for vice-president of Forum are Anita Cassimatis '54, Suzanne Gorlin, Mary McConnell, Elise Melnick, Mary Nothelmer '53, Isabel Ruth '54, Connie Shaffer '53, Mary Jane Slade, Ruth Winterling '53, Elaine Whiteman '53, and Joan Zandonella.

The following have been nominated for secretary of Forum: Dorothy Cella, Bertha Goldberg '54, Suzanne Gorlin, Emilie Grootendorst, Rosalie Kaplan '54, Sue Lesse '54, and Eleanor Murphy.

Joan Emanuel '53, Fern Laikin '54, Joan Menetry '53, and Barbara Schmidt have been nominated for treasurer of Forum.

Art Exhibitions Are On Display In Phila.

By GLENDA LEE

Some Saturday or Sunday afternoon when you are wondering whether to go to a movie, take a walk, or just loll around your room, why not take advantage of the opportunities presented in the field of art around Philadelphia? The possibilities of a few hours of rich enjoyment and sound cultural benefits are boundless. Let us take a preliminary tour of a few art museums and discover what is currently on exhibition.

Our first stop is the Art Alliance, located at 251 South 18th Street in Philadelphia. Here we may view the work of a group of contemporary artists from 10:30 a.m. to 9 p.m., during the week and from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. on Sundays. Felix Topolski is presenting his drawings and water colors until March 2, and an exhibit called "The Art of Handbook Making" will also last until then. Drawings and paintings by Henry C. Pitz are on exhibition until March 2. Veron E. Dornback, Jr. will show his oils and transparent water colors until March 19. March 23 is the last day to see an interesting collection of wax paintings done by Itzhak Sankowsky.

In a less artistic vein but definitely worth seeing is the pictorial and documentary history of Philadelphia at the Atwater Kent Museum. This museum is at 15 South 7th Street in Philadelphia, and the hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, and from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Sundays. The history of Philadelphia from the time of the first settlers in 1682 up to the present date is traced through documents, implements, pictures, and sometimes actual reproductions. Of particular interest is the Bank of North America Room on the second floor. Here we find many original pieces which formed the appearance of the first bank of the United States founded by Robert Morris in 1871.

Our next stop is the Philadelphia Free Library on the Parkway. The library is open from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. during the week, and from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. on Sundays. There is always an interesting art exhibit at the library, which may range from contemporary water colors by Philadelphia artists to an exhibit of print making processes. Now in the main hall on the first floor is an exhibit entitled "Hapsburg in Vienna." This is a group of prints and books featuring the Hapsburg family from the Pepper Hall collections in connection with the Art Treasures from the Vienna collections, appearing at the Philadelphia Museum of Art.

Now let us go up the Parkway at 26th Street to the Philadelphia Museum of Art for the "pieces de resistance" in the art world today. These are the beautiful possessions of the Hapsburg family, known as the Vienna Art Treasures. Artists from Italy, Spain, France, Austria, and Holland are represented with some of the greatest masterpieces of painting that exist today. The Renaissance bronzes occupy a good part of the collection. Statuettes and busts done by Antico, Danti, Martini, Riccio and others are to be found. Mention of the exquisite collection of ivories must be made, together with the Greek and Roman antiquities. The lover of fine crystal, china, and other antiques will be enthralled by the collection of ornamental objects in precious and semi-precious materials. The beauty of color, line, and workmanship is something for all to see. The great tapestries which decorate the walls of the main hall include two from a series of six famous tapestries representing the "Triumphs of Petrarch". These two are the "Triumph of Fame of Death" and "The Triumph of Eternity Over Time". Also included in the collection are the arms and armor of some of the great Austrian and German rulers. The Vienna Art Treasures will be at the Museum until March 30. Museum hours are from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. everyday. Pictures Without Words, a series of five experimental programs combining color slides and music interpreting the work of five masters of modern French painting, Corot, Cezanne, Van Gogh, Matisse, and Picasso, will be held at the museum on Saturdays and Sundays at 1 and at 2:30 p.m. from April 5-6 through May 3-4.

Let us close our tour with a reminder of a very special sculpture exhibit at the Woodmere Gallery in Chestnut Hill which will be there from March 16 to April 3. Dr. Fenton's sister, Miss Beatrice Fenton, is giving a one-man show during that time.

Hey, Susie, what cultural events are in town on Tuesday Night?

To 'Faustus' Crew 'Thank You', Too—

Reviewed by Connie Shaffer

Oh, very, very well done, oh yes it was well done. Dr. Faustus Lighted the Lights, oh yes he did for four whole nights. To Judith Elder, once again, a rose a rose, for inspired direction of poetry and prose. It was superb, superb we all agree—the provocative scenery of Benton Spruance and the ballet of lights of Jean Francksen stole the show, some say. To all of these plus a diligent crew, for a wonderful production, they must get their due.

As did other Fausts of old, our Dr. Faustus sold his soul to Mephisto, devil and demon—the electric light became his blight, his blight. What does it mean, mean it mean? The theme, you mean, what does it mean? The answer's found within the mind of that cryptic Gertrude Stein.

"The play's the thing," but players, too, their parts act well, they do, they do. The Faustus of Melnick, Elise well known, in other roles her ability has shown. No exception is this, is this, this is—"Oh, very, very well, Dr. Faustus, very well, oh, very well." The eternal woman, half pure, half sin, saved from hell, Marguerite Ida/Helena Annabel, was played by Joan Sniseak, quite well, quite well. Her appearance was perfect, in her role new . . . she is pure; she is not; she is serving a dual lot, is Marguerite Ida/Helena Annabel, without whom Faustus might go to hell. Nell Gayley (Mephisto) once more on the stage in the wonderful, wonderful role without age.

To Sue Gorlin, "Thank you," Marilyn Samuel the same—both were excellent when on they came. Betty Gelber's "Little Boy," as Faustus' past, not mentioned last is Faustus' past. Bubbling, exciting-charmingly—Greta Funk in the top must certainly go with those who excelled, as the Man from the Sea, a welcome return to normality.

To June Bohannon, at the window she stayed—a room for a part most perfectly played. Hannah Weiner, Marion Thayer, the boy and girl, they sought, they sought for what knew nought. Hannah was new in the boy part, but did justice to the art.

The chorus (of Milt Taggart and Ellen Katz) now limited to two, must also get their just due. Millie Rosenberg (Astrid Quarck) and Carolyn Manzelman danced very well—this was not very hard to tell.

The production once more went without flaw—it held the audience so in awe. To all involved in this wonderful play, there is but one thing possible to say; "Oh thank you. Thank you all, all of you thank you. Thank you, oh, thank you, everybody, thank you."

There comes a time in every school year when honors have been showered upon various organizations and individuals for which they have received no general applause.

At this time we'd like to pick out a few of these and say CONGRATULATIONS—

To Jo Lissfelt for winning a fellowship in chemistry at the University of Indiana.

To Sue Selman for being chosen as one of six finalists for Inter-Fraternity Queen at Penn last week.

To Theatre Playshop, the Art Department, and the cast and crew of "Dr. Faustus", for having the honor of doing a reading at the Art Alliance.

To Janet Murray, Phil Saxton, and Dot Reigen for attaining 3 ratios.

To a certain senior who had a blind date that turned out nice.

To another senior who finally made it back to school by the 2:30 deadline.

To the swimming team for beating Ursinus for the first time in four years.

To Sarah Virkler for being chosen Queen of the 1952 Junior Prom.

Will Uphold Standards Of School

Claire Everding

Another year has gone by and once again we are about to choose the president of our student government. There are six candidates here who are awaiting your approval and your final decision. As one of these candidates for the 1953 presidency, I hope to meet with your approval and would deem it a great honor to serve you, my collegemates, and Beaver.

If I am elected, I will uphold to the best of my ability the standards of our school and try to develop and increase spirit and good sportsmanship here on campus. We need spirit that comes from the thoughts of the students. I would also try to carry out your ideas and suggestions in such a way that the outcome would be advantageous to you.

What our college needs is a sense of unity to be felt by all classes working toward one goal—a common goal—a goal of interest, of admiration, and of pride in our alma mater. I believe that this cannot be done unless the leader herself realizes the importance of these principles. We have a hard and eventful year ahead of us and we want our student government and student body to shine in this, our centennial year.

I don't want to promise anything, for who knows what next year will bring; but remember it's your Student Government Association and it will live and grow into an organization of which you can be proud only through your ideas, your support, and most of all, your confidence.

Claire Everding

Students Have Decisive Voice

We, here at Beaver, whether we realize it or not, are experiencing one of the greatest privileges that can be extended to a student body—that of having a decisive voice in our own government.

The significance of this privilege cannot be too highly emphasized, for it embodies the highest degree of individual representation possible.

In ancient literature, the following story appears:

Three men were in a boat, none of whom could swim. When they got to midstream, one man took out a drill and started to bore a hole in the bottom of the boat. The other two shouted, "What are you doing?"

"Tend to your own business," said he, "I am boring a hole beneath my seat only, and not beneath yours."

"But," shouted the other two, "we are all in the same boat."

That story is two thousand years old. It is as true today, if not truer, than when it was written. We, as members of a Student Government Association, are all in the same boat.

The non-realization of this fact is the major weakness of our organization. How often we find ourselves looking at a situation only as to how it will affect us as individuals.

Next year, Beaver is celebrating its 100th anniversary. Our aim for 1952-1953 is to have a S.G.A. that we can be proud of in our Centennial year.

Beverly Gifford

Students Should State Platform

I think that it is a pity that candidates for our student government president are not able to stand before you and state their platform. I mean, that they are not able to name specific goals toward which they aim, and set down in plain figures those things which they want to see done. However, just as we know that Dr. Kistler works under a governing board of trustees, so your president will work under certain set regulations and limitations.

Therefore, it is important to have a very strong aim to gain such things as better student-faculty relations, greater student interest and support in their Student Government Organization and general improvement of rules, habits, and attitudes of the students and college conditions which together comprise our college life.

Until a person becomes an active part of a committee, club, or in this case our Student Government Association, he does not care what happens. In order to have a successful student government and one in which the students are satisfied and happy living under the rules which are made, everyone must be behind it and work with it one hundred percent.

If I am elected, I will have these aims and their fulfillment as my goal. Regardless of whom you decide to cast your vote for, I hope you will stand behind her for a unified and strong student government next year.

Barbara Langdon

Purpose Of S.G.A. To Unify Students

The essential purpose of a student government is to unify the students so as to better promote the interests of the student body.

In as close a society as we have here it need not be a difficult job, but within the student government there must be a spirit of enterprise established in order to encourage each student to think and act, both as an individual, and as a member of the student body.

It must be an organization in which there is equal respect and consideration between the student body and the elected representatives, and one which is ready to change rules and set new precedents if by so doing the student body is to benefit.

And it must be ready to stand by the standards which it has set, for without complete conviction in the right of its policies, a government is an inconsequential machine. The leaders of such an organization must be people with a human and personal interest in the welfare of the student body for they represent the focal point of Student action.

I hope that whoever is elected, she be representative of the ideas of the general student body, and that she be a person with whom all will be willing to work, not merely because it is thought of as a duty, but because such effort brings the satisfaction of worthwhile accomplishment.

Characteristics Of Good S. G. A. Pres.

As a candidate for the office of president of our student government, I feel that I should express my ideas as to what characteristics are needed in order to be a valuable asset to the students as their representative and leader.

The person elected should above all have the sincere interest of the majority of students as her guide post for action and decisions. She should be impartial and fair to all factions that comprise the student body. She must be capable, a leader, and have a good background for the office that she wishes to hold in order to carry out the issues of the students intelligently.

The person must be efficient and capable of organizing groups of people into a responsible and well coordinated government. She must be dependable and have an open mind to see things, not for the good of herself or a certain privileged few, but for the good of all those concerned. Still she must not forsake her own ideals and standards in preference of a weak cause. She must stand up for the things she believes to be right.

The girl should have certain personal characteristics such as neatness, promptness, and courteousness.

Naturally no person possesses all these traits, but a fair proportion should be evident in the person that you as a student vote for. Remember the president you choose is in office for a year. Your job is to vote wisely and elect a president that you feel will best represent you.

Our Attitudes Express Ideals

Have you stopped to realize the importance of our S.G.A.? Have you formulated an opinion of what makes it tick?

Many of you have a definite attitude toward our Student Government; you think it is the last word in success; you think it is a total flop; you hover in between. One thing we should remember is that our attitudes express the ideals of our S.G.A. Since each of us influences the other, not one of us can isolate herself from the group; each of us must add to the group; each must individually, uniquely, and constantly aim towards the success of our S.G.A. Only by working together with the spirit of honor, integrity, co-operation, and self-government can we truly reach our goal . . . the goal of unity, where each individual speaks for the S.G.A. and the S.G.A. speaks for each individual.

Our S.G.A. as a structure is built upon these ideals, its blueprint. We have, we are, and we must continue to live up to these ideals, for we are the framework of this organization.

It is our belief in these ideals that creates the spirit for S.G.A. and for Beaver. Our spirit is our belief and our belief is our government. The officers you elect are the corner-stone for your government because they are your belief.

The blueprint of this structure is our ideals; we are the framework, and S.G.A. is our corner-stone.

Beaver Ties Ursinus 25-25 In Third Basketball Game

The Beaver College varsity basketball team tied the Ursinus team with the score of 25-25. The game was played at Ursinus on Tuesday, February 19.

Jane Oswald '52, captain of the team, made the first point of the game with a foul shot. Ozzie then made a lay-up shot, and Ursinus retaliated with a basket. The action was rather slow, with Ursinus overthrowing a lot of balls. The score of 6-5 was in favor of Beaver at the end of the first quarter. Again in the second quarter the play was slow and sloppy. Ursinus tried for a shot just after the buzzer ending the quarter sounded. The basket was not counted and the score at half time was 10-9, with Ursinus ahead.

Play was much faster in the third quarter. Ursinus scored first on a lay-up shot. Betty King '53 scored for Beaver, and the Ursinus team then began to rush the score up. The battle seemed to be between the guards on both teams. Ursinus had a good defense as they played man to man. Beaver used a zone defense.

At the beginning of the last quarter the score 19-15 indicated a low scoring game. Target Hill '53 tied up the game with a push shot. Ursinus then made a basket to regain the lead. After Ozzie had made an overhead set shot, Target scored with a one hand push shot. Ursinus then tied the score.

As tension mounted in the last few minutes, the guards fought hard for the ball. Ursinus made a basket, but Target scored another push shot.

With 71 seconds left in the game there was a time-out. Ursinus then had the throw-in, but the game remained a tie 25-25.

Target made 13 of the total number of points. Kingie made seven points and Ozzie made five.

The final score of the junior varsity game was 27-14. Marion Stiles '52 was high scorer with 11 points.

Irwin '52 Chosen As Beaver Delegate To K.D.P. Meeting

Carol Irwin '52 was recently elected by Kappa Delta Pi, national honor society in education, as the delegate to the Kappa Delta Pi National Convocation at Michigan State College in East Lansing, Michigan, to be held on Thursday, March 6, Friday, March 7, and Saturday, March 8.

This is the eighteenth Biennial Convocation of Kappa Delta Pi. The convocation will be held at the new Kellogg Center for Continuing Education on the Michigan State campus.

Delegates, chapter counselors, and visiting members from over 165 chapters, both graduate and undergraduate, will be attending this convocation from all parts of the country. The chapter at Beaver is Zeta Nu which sends only one elected delegate.

The convocation acts as the legislative body of Kappa Delta Pi, and determines all questions of policy and the legislation of such other business as shall be presented to the body by the executive council or by the chapters.

On the agenda for this delegation are such topics for discussion as Kappa Delta Pi's contribution to educational leadership, problems affecting education today, program planning, and chapter activities. There will also be reports from the members of the executive council and a revision of the by-laws of the society.

The highlight of the three-day meeting will be a banquet on Friday, March 7, followed by a speech by Florence E. Allen, U. S. Circuit Court Judge from Cleveland. Her topic will be "The Treaty As An Instrument of Legislation."

The session will close on Saturday afternoon, March 8, with a luncheon and a speech. Mr. Harold Benjamin of George Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville, Tennessee, will deliver the concluding speech, "Leadership in Education."

Sports Round-Up

by LAURIE

In the intramural basketball program the sophomores beat the seniors 23-17, and the juniors defeated the freshmen 26-24. Three more games are still to be played: the juniors vs. the seniors on March 5, the juniors vs. sophomores on March 6, and the freshmen vs. the seniors on March 12.

Two points are given for each win and one point for a tie. At the end of this Round Robin tournament if two teams are tied, all the points scored in the three games will be counted to determine the winner.

Before spring vacation, probably sometime during the weeks of March 17 and 24, there will be a volleyball tournament.

A group from the modern dance club gave an assembly dance program at Abington High on February 21. Phyl Saxton introduced the dances and gave a brief talk on the origin, techniques, and composition of modern dance.

The seven girls, Elaine Anas, Carolyn Danenberger, Bea Muller, Ginny Platz, Bev Rainer, Doris Shafer, and Jackie Strohauser, did a series of techniques, some falls and improvisations.

"Dry Bones," a standard number of the club repertoire, was given along with two selections from the recent A. A. show, "Shrimp Boats" and "Beyond The Blue Horizon." Danny did a soft shoe routine to "Syncopated Clock."

This afternoon and tonight the dance club will go to Penn for the annual dance symposium. Marjorie Mazia, a professional dancer from New York, will direct a class in technique and composition. In the evening at Irvine Auditorium groups from Beaver, Cheyney, Penn, and Temple will perform their choice dance numbers. Alwin Nimvoli, also a professional dancer, will give a demonstration with his group.

Bea, Bev, Ginny, and Jackie will do the "Shrimp Boats" number on the television program, "Stars In Your Eyes," on Saturday, March 8.

Beaver "Drowns" Ursinus For First Win In Four Years

Activities

By GEM

Nancy Norman and Judy Dean, co-chairman of Tradition, have planned a Bridge and Canasta tournament with a group of Lafayette men. The tentative date for the event is March 21.

The Beaver College Alumnae Association has planned two major events for the students of Beaver during the month of March. On Saturday, March 1, from 10 to 12 p.m., the Alumnae Association will sponsor a dance in Murphy Gymnasium. This dance is given for the celebration of Beaver Night. The Association has announced that the dance will be given free of charge for all students and faculty. The "Stylers" will be the orchestra for the evening.

The senior class of Beaver will be honored by the Alumnae Association on March 11. The class has been invited to a dinner to be held at the Casa Conti restaurant in Glenside, Pennsylvania. The dinner will be held in the Lorraine Room at 7 p.m.

A "Mixer Dance" is being planned by the Day Students' Organization. Annabell Lindy '52 and Carolyn Danenberger '52 are chairmen for the affair. The dance is to be given on March 28. Last week a notice was sent to every student to determine the response of the students to such a dance. Each student is to give the name of at least one boy that she would like to have attend this "Mixer Dance."

The Beaver College swimming team defeated the Ursinus team for the first time in four years with the score of 34-23. The meet was held in the Norristown "Y" pool on Wednesday, February 20.

The team won every event in the meet except the free-style relay. Betty Pfautz '55 won the 50-yard free-style event. In this exciting race, Betty beat her opponent in the last few yards of the race.

Betty was again even with an Ursinus girl in the breaststroke event, but she came in ahead in an exciting finish. Adelia Mease '52 came in second.

Barbara Langdon '53 was first in the backstroke event, and Janet Murray '55 came in second.

The whole meet depended on the medley relay, which is worth six points. Barbara Langdon was far out in front with her strong backstroke. Betty Pfautz in the second lap gave Nancy Banks '54 a good lead, and Nancy completed the relay in her fast swim up and down the length of the pool.

Janet Murray placed first in the diving competition. Barbara Briggs '55 was the second diver for Beaver.

Ursinus won the free-style relay by about half the length of the pool.

The final score of the meet 34-23 was a crushing defeat to Ursinus, who has long been considered one of Beaver's strongest rivals.

There was no junior varsity meet.
